

1 The directories:

2 Client

3 Server

4

5 contain the code for simple RMI application and refer, respectively, to the Client module and the Server module.

6

7 A remote interface is copied to both the server and client modules in this case, but it can be added to each module without the need to copy it by adding a library reference of its .jar file.